AM I NOT DISINFECTING MY DEVICES CORRECTLY?

AS/NZS 5369:2023 details reprocessing requirements, which now encompasses private professionals and businesses, such as ophthalmology consulting suites or optometry practices, and compliance is mandatory. The Standard states devices that touch the eye are classed as "semi-critical devices" and required to undergo high-level disinfection with a medical device disinfectant found on the Australian Register of Therapeutic Goods (ARTG).

Commonly seen products – such as alcohol wipes, or soaks in bleach – are not found on the ARTG as high-level disinfectants. While they may have material compatibility with some devices, they may not have passed the required tests or achieve efficacy against organisms of concern under the Standard.

EFFECTIVE

Proven effective against microorganisms of concern in two minutes.

COMPATIBLE

Proven compatible with the instruments of major manufacturers.

COMPLIANT

AS/NZS 5369:2023 compliant. ARTG-listed high-level disinfectant for medical devices.

ECONOMICAL

Quick reprocessing cuts the need for single-use or extra devices, saving costs.
